Hi Mary

Please see the below email chain regarding 156 Grenfell Tower.

Can you please explain the route for this installation and what has been discussed so far with this resident.

We will be responding to him that he will need to liaise with National Grid directly in relation to this but would like to know your views on how this will be dealt with and any information we can provide.

Many thanks

Hi Daniel

There was a leak on the gas mains and National Grid have had to rerun a new mains throughout the block.

National Grid will have to run the supply into residents homes if residents want one.

How this is done is a discussion that Mr Shah will have to have with National Grid. It is not our responsibility.

I will ask Anthony to reply to Mr Shah along these lines

Regards

Peter

Subject: Recent visit by the National Grid to my flat ref: Main gas pipe through my front door.

Dear Mr Daniel Wood,

This is to inform you that, this morning I had a visit from the National Grid without prior notice or letter either from the KCTMO homeownership or from the landlord RBKC that they have decided to put the gas pipe through my front door. The national grid also tried to demonstrate the layout of the pipe and I was extremely horrified and shocking of the layout.

Let me re-iterate that, I find it unreasonable, unacceptable and unprofessional, forceful entry to my flat. I have no contractual agreement with the National Grid but with my landlord as leaseholder.

Let me categorically confirm that to the KCTMO/National Grid and to you that, we have no intension whatsoever the main gas pipe coming through my front door under any circumstance and events.

Please confirm.

Kind regards

Mr Ahmed
