Local Authority Prevent incident response and activity monitor

Version 1 – 19/06/2017 – 12.00

Overview:

Following today's attack on Seven Sisters Road, monitoring of tensions, concerns, and engagement by Prevent teams across the London Network has been activated. Prevent practitioners are liaising with Police and London Resilience colleagues, community partners, and faith institutions. Open communication will allow the network to co-ordinate our response, share information, and issue messages of reassurance to community members. Community members have been encouraged to feedback any concerns and community tensions to ensure policing and local authority responses are proportionate and tailored to reflect local need. The below information provides a summary and breakdown of responses and actions taken by Prevent teams, the local authorities, and police colleagues.

Summary:

Monday 19 June 2017, shortly before 00:20, a van drove into a group of worshippers on the pavement outside the Muslim Welfare House on Seven Sisters Road. Police and emergency services were called on site and it has been confirmed that a man has been arrested. At the time of writing, one fatality has been confirmed. The Home Secretary subsequently issued a statement in which she confirmed that the attack is being treated "as a terrorist incident".

Overall assessment:

Further information is being awaited from local partners and the picture will become clearer as further updates are received. While no incidents have yet been reported in the wake of the attack, heightened concerns by the Muslim community have been noted across a number of boroughs. Reassurance messaging and calls for concerns to be shared and reported have been undertaken by Prevent and Police colleagues across a number of boroughs. Engagement with local community and faith groups is also ongoing throughout several London boroughs. Communication with statutory partners, and especially within the education sector, is also ongoing.
