Afternoon Claire

We've had a technical submission from JS Wright regarding the proposed system - they have been working closely with PSB (our suggested smoke extract specialist) to develop this. I believe JS Wright are incorporating a few minor comments at the moment in readiness for submission to Building Control/Fire Officer for approval.

The system as presented in the technical submission is the one discussed with Paul Hanson from Building Control on 24/11/14. He verbally accepted the scheme at the time, so fingers crossed this should be formally approved when submitted. The scheme is 2-stage in that the current natural ventilation is reinstated as an interim measure before the new pressure differential controls and fans are added at a later date. I haven't seen an up to date programme outlining when these works are to commence - speaking to Rydon would be the best bet.

Kind regards,

Matt

Matt

Have building regs approved our approach yet?

Is anything being undertaken in the interim on this? I thought we had on board the sub-contractor you recommended?

We have a meeting with the fire brigade next week and I would love to be up to date them.
