Dear Cllr Blakeman

We have not reached the stage of the timings yet. However I would tend not book anything in before 10am to take into account any travelling time. At the end of the day I would again prefer not to go beyond 4pm as there may be a 'wash-up' of the interview which could take the panel until 5.30 pm or so.
It is early days – I will keep you posted.

Thank you very much for the update. What would be the timing of the contractor interviews?

Kind regards.

Cllr. Judith Blakeman

Dear Cllr Blakeman

Thank you for attending our drop-in session about the heating, which was very successful in getting residents engaged.

I am awaiting to hear that the planning approval has been given at Grenfell, the Section 106 is being engrossed today and the TMO has paid various legal and monitoring fees to ensure that there are no further paperwork hurdles.

It would be a fabulous Christmas present if it comes through in the next day or so.

I am due to drop a last newsletter through the door with an update from the recent drop-in – probably now it will be the 23 or 24 December, so that I can include the planning approval update. I will send the final version through as soon as possible.

Meanwhile Peter Maddison has asked me to update you on when we will be holding the contractor interviews. We have set aside the two above days; obviously nearer the time we will obviously have a set of questions and running order, but I thought it was important to have these dates.

Seasons' greetings
