Don't worry about this - I have done what was necessary. Poor Jules. Poor Emma!

I bumped into [REDACTED] coming from the Town Hall the other morning; [REDACTED] making a nonsense of all Duncan Smith's claims that no one in work will be worse off than those on benefits. She is managing it herself but if she needs help and you are too busy I am happy to try and assist her.

If I can find a mo. I am just drowning in tasks waiting for priority, plus Gemma is on hols from the Venture Centre and I'm keeping an eye, sorry to say there are untold horrors not addressed there and some must be sorted out pdq.

I'm not coping very well, and poor Jules is bombarding me with tortured emails, which is adding to the pressure.

However on Friday I'm covering a lovely conference on 'Urban Thresholds' for Building Design magazine (they don't pay me but get me in free), then lovely Labour Group of course, on Saturday is the Compass conf, then I have the family event Sat eve/Sunday, so whatever doesn't get done will be left for three days.

Many thanks. This is good, is it not? We have waited some time for this. The only comment I would have is that the wheelchair accessible flat ought not to be permit free, because presumably the wheelchair-bound resident will require some form of transport.

I am happy to send that comment to Rock and perhaps you could too?
