Dear Ms. Williams

When I visited the show flat at Grenfell Tower you and Mr. Maddison advised that residents would have the option of locating the new boiler in the kitchen, although that was not preferred by the TMO in view of all the pipework that would have to go through the bathroom.

I am being advised by some residents who have already had the works done and the boiler placed in the hallway that they were not offered this option, which they might have wished to accept.

Can you please clarify what offer was made to all residents and in what form/s the offer was presented to them?

Many thanks.

Cllr. Judith Blakeman
