Hi Steve

Have uploaded all the As Built drawings to the following location on drop box.
Will take a few minutes to download- for link please click here

Regarding Carl Stokes response you could point out that there were no comments on our fire strategy drawings from building control requesting fire rating to the doors in this location.
Following on from our conversation this morning as the installed doors are solid core should be FD30 by default, and smoke seals were fitted in any case- any luck with supplier information/ confirmation?

Let me know if you need anything else

Regards
Neil
