Nick Hurd, Fire Minister, pool clip, 1730

Tell us what was discussed

We're all coping with the shock and profound sadness of the Grenfell Tower last night and so our thoughts as everyone's are with the victims of the tragedy and with the friends and families and those who are looking for information.

What we are determined to do is make sure that the government and system of public services is working in the most effective way to support the first responders and the emergency support services those who have been caught up in this tragedy to make sure that they have got the support and information that they need.

It was a meeting of senior ministers and senior officials from cross the systems and I leave it feeling reassured that the resources are in place and the capacity is in place to support people through this immediate emergency response.

What are you doing to make sure that other tower blocks are safe?

That was discussed in the meeting. It was recognised there were people there who are going to need reassurance

So we discussed with DCLG, local authorities and the fire service a process whereby we seek to identify towers that might be in a similar process of refurbishment and run a system of checks and inspections so that we can as quickly as possible provide assurance to people.

No money spared?

This isn't an issue of resources. Everyone I've spoken to on the front line – fire, police, ambulance services – resources have not been the issue people arrived very quickly and with good numbers and the right equipment to deal with really an unprecedented situation. You heard the fire commissioner say that in 29 years he had not seen a fire like this it's not an issue of resources because the Government is absolutely determined to make sure we're there to support emergency support services but also people caught up in this tragedy.

Do you accept MPs claims that Ministers ignored warnings that building regulations needs to be updated?

I'm not going to comment on that. I hope people understand that the priority of Government at the moment is to manage the emergency response to deal with the security to deal with lives to be saved lives to be rebuilt and to make sure we have the support in place for this emergency response.

That will then move into recovery phase and move into a phase where we seek to answer the questions that people quite understandably have – so that we really understand what happened here, what went wrong, what worked what didn't work so that we do not find ourselves in this situation again. I don't think anyone wants to go through another night like last.

Can you assure people lessons will be learned?

What I can reassure people is once we get through the emergency response situation and recovery phase there will be an intensive process to really understand what happened here and that any lessons that need to be learnt are learnt so we don't have to go through this process again.

Thank you both.

And to all for your updates today – much appreciated.

Aside from the Home Office Clip Andy just flagged there are no further broadcast plans from govt this evening, or plans to do a morning round given we are still in emergency response mode.

I will update with any changes.

In case helpful please find our statement issued today too:

A Number 10 spokesman said:

"The Prime Minister is deeply saddened by the tragic loss of life in the Grenfell Tower and is being kept constantly updated on the situation.

"She has asked for a cross-Government meeting at the Civil Contingencies Secretariat to take place at 4pm to co-ordinate the response and ensure the Government is ready to assist the emergency services and local authorities as necessary.

"The PM's thoughts are with all of those affected by this terrible incident and the emergency services, who are working tirelessly in very difficult circumstances."

NOTE: The meeting will be chaired by the Police and Fire Minister Nick Hurd.

Subject: Evening Update

Dear All,

Thanks for all your efforts today – a very testing one.

Here is the comms update.

LAS, LFB, Kensington and Chelsea and the MPS did a joint on camera briefing and questions at the scene. The number of fatalities was confirmed as rising to 12 with more rises likely.

I don't think we need a call tonight. There is not going to be another big press briefing tonight.

If people wish to do 1 to 1s that is your call and not a problem. Equally if you wish to do that for Breakfast shows tomorrow that is fine.

I think we should have a conference call at 830am tomorrow morning. At the moment my feeling is a mid morning press conference at the scene similar to this afternoon. From a Met side in the afternoon I think we will look at doing some more explanation in the afternoon on the disaster victim identification process.

Hope that all makes sense. Any issues call the press bureau or send an email.

All the best and thanks again.

All - to update on government comms plans we are planning to do a Ministerial clip later today following the meeting discussed on the last call. This will serve as a meeting readout and focus on praising the work of first responders who the Police and Fire Minister has met with on a private visit to the scene - which I understand is happening shortly/is underway.

Subject: PHE - Public health advice on smoke exposure from fires

Dear all

We have tweeted the advice below so please retweet as appropriate:

https://twitter.com/PHE_London/status/874974857729060864

Public health advice on smoke exposure from fires

"Any smoke can be an irritant and as such, if people need to be outdoors, they are advised to avoid outside areas affected by any smoke or ash, or to limit the time that they spend in them.

"Some of the substances present in smoke can irritate the lining of the air passages, the skin and the eyes. Respiratory symptoms include coughing and wheezing, breathlessness, sputum (phlegm) production and chest pain. If symptoms occur, people should seek medical advice or call NHS 111.

"Chemicals in the smoke can worsen existing health problems like asthma. People with asthma should carry their inhaler."

'The burning smell of plastic'

Posted at 12:19

Tasha, who has lived in the area all her life, has been telling BBC News the impact the fire has had on her.

"The smell, the smell, the fumes, I have the worst headache I've ever had. It's just the plastic burning isn't it, it's the plastic. It's not a good feeling and it's not a good environment to be in.

"And so people are angry and people want answers, and there were many warnings, people raised their concerns and nothing was done about it."

Subject: Lastest London Ambulance statement

Hi all,

For info, see below our latest statement with updated figures.

London Ambulance Service Director of Operations Paul Woodrow said:

"Following this morning's fire at Grenfell Tower, West London, we have treated and taken 64 patients to six hospitals across London, where 20 people are currently in critical care. Our thoughts are with everyone affected.

"Over 100 of our medics have been working hard to respond to this incident, including ambulance crews, advanced paramedics, advanced trauma teams from London's Air Ambulance and those staff managing the incident in our special operations centre. Our hazardous area response teams are also on scene, who carry specialist equipment including breathing apparatus. We've been treating patients for a range of injuries, as well as for smoke inhalation.

"A major incident has been declared and we continue to work closely with other members of the emergency services at the scene.

"Members of the public who are concerned about friends and relatives should contact the police Casualty Bureau on 0800 096 1233.

"We urge Londoners to only call us in a genuine emergency and to call NHS 111 for urgent healthcare advice."

Ends

Subject: RE: Grenfell Tower - Readout of Comms Conf Call at 11.00

To update, we have tweeted the below advice for friends and family, who are encouraged to attend the below rest centre rather than the other three.

If you are concerned about friends and family, there is a special rest centre open at the Salvation Army, 205 Portobello Road, W11 1LU

Regards,

Mike

It has been confirmed that the fire at Grenfell Tower has resulted in at least six fatalities.

The Council activated its major emergency plan in the early hours of this morning and has been working with the emergency services ever since in order to support the rescue and relief operation.

Rest centres are open at:

- Rugby Portobello Trust, Walmer Road, W11 4EY
- St Clement Church, Treadgold Street, W11 4BP
- Westway Sports Centre, Crowthorne Road, W10 6RP

An emergency contact number has been set up for anyone concerned for loved ones, please call the casualty bureau on 0800 0961 233.

Residents who are displaced due to the fire please call 020 7361 3008.

Members of the public who wish to help with donations or direct support are asked to watch this space for further details.

Commenting on the fire Council Leader, Cllr Nick Paget-Brown said:

"This is a terrible day for Kensington and Chelsea and we are doing all we can to support the victims and their families."

"At present all our focus has to be on supporting the rescue and relief operation. But the cause of the fire will need to be fully investigated and we will keep people informed."

This page will be updated throughout the day - 11.20am

Subject: Grenfell Tower - Readout of Comms Conf Call at 11.00

LFB, MET, LAS, K&C, Mayors Office, HO, No10, LRT, RC, TfL, BTP on the call

Met

Joint LFB, LAS, Met briefing earlier went well

Met going to do on camera statement before lunch with Stuart Cundy with updated figures and statement on what the public should do (see below)

Probably do another joint LFB, LAS, Met and poss K&C statement at 4.00/4.30pm

LAS

Still firefighting at the building, could have deep seated pockets of fire for a number of hours

Most important message - do not know the cause of the fire. It would be difficult if LFB were to change the normal message at the moment - which is that generally people should stay put in a fire - but that is a complicated message to give out at this moment

LAS

No updated release

MET

Statement will confirm 6 fatalities and will say figures are expected to rise, will also have public info to remind people to contact the reception centre to confirm they are OK and to ring Casualty Bureau if loved ones are found so that they can be taken off of the missing list.

K&C

Statement to issue updating on the 3 rest centres that are open. Question of whether only displaced people should attend those, not family or friends

Mayors Office

Mayor is going to visit the onsite Command Centre. He may go to the cordon after that.

NHSE

They have updated figures which are about to be issued
74 treated in hospital
64 taken to hospital by LAS
20 critical care
[6 Fatalities - this number will be given out by the MET only]
6 Hospitals have been involved (5 Trusts)

HO

Will be issuing a statement from their Minister shortly

Next call at 1500 today
