I am a Police Sergeant currently working for the National Police Air Service (NPAS). My role includes service delivery and Operations Centre support.

On Wednesday 1st November 2017 I met with Detective Constable Roisin MORGAN from the Metropolitan Police at NPAS Headquarters in Wakefield. I handed her printouts of the following NPAS logs relating to helicopter deployments to the Grenfell Tower fire.

I exhibit them as indicated.

NPAS use the STORM software system produced by a company called Sopra Steria for recording the above logs. The logs are created and updated by NPAS Operations Centre staff and include information provided by the requesting Police force.

On the same day I also handed DC MORGAN a copy of the NPAS Standard Operating Procedure for aircraft deployment and control. I produce this document as Exhibit SMT16.

On Wednesday 6th December 2017 I produced two documents showing the route taken by each NPAS helicopter when deployed to the above logs. This information was obtained by conducting a "Call sign activity search" on the STORM system. It is also referred to as a snail trail.

The first document, Snail trail Part 1 contains separate route maps relating to the following logs,
